

"Color Study in Blue"
Descriptive Transcript
By The Cyborg Jillian Weise and Canese Jarboe

This sonnet is called
"Color Study in Blue."

There's a dominatrix driving.

She gets to a motel,
drops her things
on the desk.

An Al-Anon brochure
reads "Detachment."

Close-up on her.
She wears a blue wig.

She opens her eyes
and I think our eyes are the same

sweeping shade of blue.

The Titanic plays
on the motel tv.

It's muted, though.
Captions.

DiCaprio is saying—
"with all due respect, Miss."

Her palm is up.
There's nothing in it.

The sonnet plays. Drums. Spooky. Experimental. Multiphonic flutes enter the song when the Dominatrix opens her eyes. The song is "Earth Dawn" by Dame Evelyn Glennie.